Internal Quality Assurance Cell

St. Xavier's College, Simdega, has been filled with immense potential since its inception. Therefore, the college management and the Internal Quality Assurance Cell have thoughtfully formulated its vision and mission.

Drawing on the Jesuit approach to education, we have set as our vision and mission the true pursuit of knowledge for the service and advancement of the world. We also place special importance on fostering harmony between human beings and human beings and between human beings and nature, while preserving the dignity, uniqueness, and potential of each individual.

The geographical location of St. Xavier's College, Simdega, makes it even more unique. It borders Gumla to the north, Khunti and West Singhbhum to the east, Odisha (Sundargarh district) to the south, and Chhattisgarh (Jashpur district) to the west. A large number of students come from these areas to receive quality education.

Simdega is a tribal-dominated district with a population of approximately 600,000. Dropouts in higher education have long been a problem in this district. The reasons for these dropouts are poverty, lack of awareness, and poor-quality educational institutions throughout the region. With these goals in mind, St. Xavier's College was opened in Simdega on August 1, 2016. The college's vision and mission were to provide state-of-the-art, skill-based education, especially to talented students from the poor, backward, and marginalized communities of the region.

Our vision is to create secular, democratic and authentic personalities in the students. For this, under the aegis of IQAC, programs related to in-depth knowledge of the subject and skill development are organized for the students throughout the year.

Language and culture are the essence of any society. Therefore, we strive to preserve them and continually enhance them. We have a majority of tribal students. This opens up immense possibilities for the promotion and research of their mother tongues—Kudukh, Kharia, Mundari, Santhali, and Nagpuri. To take the cultural heritage of Jharkhand to the global level, IQAC is planning to conduct special programmes from the year 2026 for the preservation and promotion of the language, culture and folk beliefs, faiths and tribalism of Jharkhand. There is also a plan to soon build a museum for the preservation of primitive art culture.

Teachers are the foundation of any educational institution. We have seven departments with a total of 31 teachers. All are well-versed in their respective subjects and have passed a selection process. However, to maintain excellence, they need to update and modernize their knowledge and teaching skills. IQAC is taking this seriously and implementing a policy to send faculty members to higher education training programs. They are being encouraged to maintain the trend of writing more articles/books and presenting research papers in national/international seminars. With the visionary thinking of the college principal, IQAC has been successfully organizing progressive programmes.

After continuous discussions with the college management, IQAC deeply recognized the acute lack of quality postgraduate education in Simdega. This gap was addressed by Ranchi University. The university accepted our demands and granted permission to offer postgraduate courses in 2023. Now, our talented students are earning their postgraduate degrees at a low cost while staying in Simdega.

There is a complete lack of good education in science subjects in Simdega and its nearby border districts. To overcome this deficiency, permission has been sought from Ranchi University for teaching science subjects. The necessary steps have been taken for this. It is hoped that science courses will begin here in 2026.

Thirteen clubs - (Environmental Club, Literary Club, Dance Club, Drama Club, Music Club, Sports Club, Indigenous Club, Photography Club, Chaplin Club, Quiz Club, Media Club, Painting Club and Entrepreneurship Club), six committees (Culture Committee, Games Committee, Quiz Committee, Exam Committee, Literary Committee, Discipline Committee), three societies (History Society, Literary Society, Film Society) and two cells (Women Cell, ST/SC/OBC Cell) are functioning under the supervision of IQAC to conduct quality programmes throughout the year in the college.

Apart from this, every Saturday all the seven departments of the college - English Department, Hindi Department, History Department, Geography Department, Economics Department, Political Science Department and Commerce Department organize special programmes related to education and creative development for their students. These programs aim to provide students with an engaging education. They are based on the New Education Policy's concept of 'Learning by doing'. These programs are a type of outreach program. The programs place a special emphasis on experiential and practical learning. Analysis has shown that these specialized programs enhance students' critical thinking, foster a greater interest in research, and enhance their creative potential. In doing so, we are moving closer to the core spirit of our mission, "LUCENS ET ARDENS," which means "Let your light shine."

St. Xavier's College is in Simdega, a remote tribal dominated border area, so that the students of Simdega and surrounding areas could get the same modern, quality, skill development-based education.

We not only hope but have full confidence that our students coming out from here will play an important role in building the society and the country. On behalf of IQAC, I extend my heartfelt thanks to all the stakeholders for your qualitative participation for quality governance and administration of the College.

Research Coordinator

In this Age of Information, marked by the profusion and rapid transformation of scientific knowledge, it becomes incumbent upon any institution of higher learning to cultivate a spirit of enquiry and an earnestness of purpose rooted in the free play of imagination. The title of this magazine, Samriddhi, which insinuates a call for academic growth is deeply intertwined with the noble and ancient impulse of humankind—to question, comprehend, unearth, and express the unknown or the less known through its creative impulse, reflective of the primary imagination. Jagadish Chandra Bose reminds us, “They who see but one, in all the changing manifoldness of the universe, unto them belongs Eternal Truth, unto none else, unto none else!” It is this recognition and reverence for truth and its plurality that our Research Cell seeks to cultivate, and I believe, that this magazine would allow the students the much-needed space to express their creative flights rooted in scientific temperament.

It needs to be remembered that cultivation of research temperament is something beyond the predilection for the accumulation of facts and data. Rather, it is a disciplined training of the cerebral and the cordial faculty through inquisitive observation, diligent study, thoughtful doubt, and perseverance—illustrative of the Baconian adage that “Truth emerges more readily from error than from confusion” – thereby underscoring the significance of humility and methodological integrity. Understanding this reality ennoble the researcher—placing them in the lineage of the natural philosophers of the Georgian Age, the erudite stewards of Victorian era, and the ideological and scientific thinkers of both ancient and modern India – individuals who believed that intellectual advancement is inseparable from the training of both mind and heart. However, such a noble intention can only be achieved when there is honesty in observation, fidelity in citation, respect for intellectual property, and a religious commitment for truth, even when discomfiting. This magazine, I believe, will allow young scribes to publish their spontaneous overflow of powerful feelings, which might initially appear little more than a cogent accumulation of intellectual scribbling—many of which might serve later as the springboard for rigorous research essays.

It is therefore my firm conviction that this magazine will be able to instill within young scholars the habit of self-directed enquiry and provide the much-needed food for thought that students may later exhume to inspire and define their future research contributions. Overall, it will create a conducive academic milieu for the flowering of new ideas, critical thinking, and novel ways of reading both texts and contexts, thereby paving the way for an intellectual dawn. May this magazine be a testament of creative flight, imaginative enquiry, academic prosperity, and critical thought.

With many wishes.

January, 2025

Happy New Year 2025! We have just journeyed a month together to know one another. The new year has given us new hope to live and succeed. Knowledge, once hidden, is now being discovered and shared.

The year opened with full of life-mission and prosperity, inviting us to receive blessings and learn to enjoy life with grateful and responsible hearts.

Every step of life gave us learning experiences. We strived for excellence and picked up golden lessons in our life-mission as we flew to achieve the seemingly impossible dream above the sky—for the sky is open to those who dare to fly. We did not harm the purity of Mother Earth, who supports us; instead, we cared for the holy ground so that we may earn our livelihood and learn for our career fitness.

Success was with all dear Simdega Xaverians in our endeavours. God's Grace, Protection, and Blessings were upon us, our friends and our family members throughout the year 2025.

February, 2025

The day had passed; the future was at hand. The cold days were coming to an end, and the biting chill seemed to decrease. Spring smiled with beauty in diversity. The green slowly turned to yellow, attracting the students and filling them with joy. Days were disciplined with varied activities and emotions. The purity and positive vibrations in the campus continued to offer quality life to everyone. Our journey was enriched with knowledge and experience. Colours became more colourful when we embraced challenges. Faculty members and supporting staff worked tirelessly for the first cycle of NAAC. Though days were limited, the previously complied and archived work made our task easy and more authentic. I felt happy to see students growing in their pursuits and love for the college. Professors appeared deeply committed to their work and remained true to themselves. I appreciated the sincere dedication of the administrative and supporting staff, who never abandoned the college but loved their duty with high dreams.

God continued to bless and protect all my students and staff members so that they may have a prosperous journey and joyful life with their families.

March, 2025

Sweat was taken away by pleasant weather due to the rain we experienced in the month of March. The Almighty was so loving to us that we could cooperate Him in His Divine plan, individually and collectively. Enjoying good health, we continued our academic, polishing our lives with creativity and authenticity so that we might become fruitful instruments for society.

Our hard work seemed to be growing enough to touch the sky. I was happy to see the students studying in the reading hall and using books in library. I appreciated the professors who updated themselves by attending various faculty development programmes, conferences, and seminars. It was wonderful to see teachers encouraging effective learning and dynamic methods. It gave me joy to see students developing social consciousness and a sense of responsibility along with their academic pursuits, leading them to become good citizen.

I urged my students to respect their life with good health because health is a gift to enjoy college life. The weather was supportive, yet I requested them to take care of their health with great responsibility, for "Health is Wealth."

April, 2025

Awaited greenery covered the trampled and dry branches. The cool weather continued to support our life-mission. To journey responsibly is a duty where one does not blame others for their fall.

Self-acceptance, though challenging, leads to victory when accompanied by determination and positive correction. Every fall is an event, but every rise after the fall is a challenge to new life. Success itself does not give life; it is the learning behind the success. Success without meaning is like an empty box, but life becomes full when lived with purpose. Everyone should respect the present and live it meaningfully so that joy can be experienced without any regret, for regret is the outcome of lack of responsibility toward one's own life. Choices are abundant, and each person is free to choose the best path to lay a life-giving foundation for their journey. Choosing comfort is not the reward; true reward lies in inner joy and work satisfaction after the race—achieved only by embracing struggle and hard work. The Easter joy filled life with good health and true victory.

May, 2025

The Summer Journey was not too harsh. Clouds and the occasional drizzles softened the heat. Students seemed to spend their valuable time in the library. Their focus on their career became more serious and motivated. Joy was embedded in every struggle on the path to success. Success begins with a spark and must be achieved through proper effort.

Life is beautiful and becomes joyful when lived with understanding and dignity. The 'right to life' invites everyone to find security in God alone. One must be mindful of one's own life and lives of others with respect and value. College life is an opportunity to create one's path to destiny. It is a time to empower oneself with knowledge and prosperity by becoming lovers of wisdom. Continuous striving for a greater and better life is a blessing. One is free to love life and live love. All enjoyed mangoes, the seasonal fruit of the month, and appreciated the giver of life which sustains us with the purity of nature around us. God accompanied us toward victory and destiny of Truth.

June, 2025

All were back to the house of knowledge and Joy. The summer holiday was refreshing and delightful. The mangoes were delicious. Students spent valuable time with their parents, siblings, and friends. Rain drizzled now and then to balance the weather.

Students did not miss the chance to focus on their journey toward success. Their hard work, the blessings of their parents, the guidance of their teachers, and the protection of their beloved institution would make them precious in the future.

Xaverians began their day with joy and conviction, knowing that each day would not return. These days were given to them to transform themselves with prosperity. The expectations of parents, well-wishers, and the college were blessings indeed. They did not let opportunities pass without achieving success. All the very best to the students for the new academic session full of knowledge and experience.

True Love never fails!

July, 2025

Heavy rain did not stop, yet the cool days were refreshing. Students continued their academic endeavours. Though many lived in far-off villages, their motivation to study did not fail. Their attendance was praiseworthy.

Various activities alongside teaching and learning took place in the college. Students understood the value of student life and the importance of hard work in achieving their goals.

A good teacher prepares well, plans activities, and guides students toward their destination. A teacher's hard work is a sacrifice to build the nation.

Education is the most powerful weapon to change the world. It brings transformation of the heart and a fire that dispels darkness, making the future brighter. Students are the light of today and the bright stars of tomorrow. They must be nurtured so that knowledge may transform their lives. Education is a food to nourish us for our tomorrow. Let us eat and chew it.

August, 2025

The month received heavy rain, yet the students and staff were regular in their duties. The month began with gratitude for the blessings received. Smile and Joy sparkled on everyone's faces as we celebrated Foundation Day, Indigenous Day, Orientation Day, and Independence Day.

The college was happy to welcome new students for the 2025-29 session. They received five days of orientation and were introduced to the goal of life, the purpose of education, and the Jesuit tradition.

It was wonderful to see students under the umbrella when it rained. Though it rained heavily, yet it did not weaken their commitment. The students had regular classes with good mind and body.

Faculty members were committed and honest in their profession. I appreciated the office and supporting staff who remained true to their responsibilities in running the college smoothly.

I, thus could see joy doubled when tasks were shared. God became visible when Xaverians learnt to see God in one another.

September, 2025

Respect for teachers were witnessed on Teachers' Day. Students grew in integrity as they learnt from their teachers. The month was full of activities and rain. Students made use of opportunities and learnt independently. It was also a time of talent hunting. Teaching staff served as good mentors, helping students understand the value of education in life. They taught them to engage with the world and integrate the present with the future. Talks, outreach programmes, awareness days, and departmental activities provided platforms for self-discovery. It made every individual strong and mature for life journey.

Despite the heavy rain, students' joy for learning did not cease. The growth in the students' journey was visible. I felt happy to see students maturing in their lives and teachers offering their best with creativity. The value of education in Simdega seemed to be growing meaningfully, promising a better tomorrow.

October, 2025

The puja vacation brought joyfulness. Festivals offered opportunities to appreciate life's beauty. Students and staff were excited to return home their family members. Examinations were on-going, and the first-year PG and UG students continued their first semester exams.

The video recordings of lectures by the faculty members were enriching. They prepared their classes well and delivered their best. The outcome of the video lectures was satisfying and helped students grow in confidence.

The transformative light touched many lives, inspiring new beginnings in harmony with oneself, neighbours, and Mighty Light. Deepawali—the festival of light—brought brightness to every life. Students and staff felt refreshed with the festivity.

I was delighted to see students and staff growing in virtues and learning. Though life's journey was challenging, they worked hard to find meaning. Their cooperative spirit encouraged us to discover truth and embrace it. The Xaverians discovered light, understood it and supported one another.

November, 2025

The cool weather touched November joyfully. Life on campus were interactive and soothing. Students did not ever give up their academic pursuits, even though many travelled long distances from villages and towns.

The month was festive, yet students sought knowledge and experience in classrooms, the computer lab, the library, playgrounds, and across the campus. Their youthful presence filled the environment with vibrancy.

Teachers remained committed to teaching and accompanying students to acquire genuine knowledge. They engaged students in various activities to help them excel in their talents and integrate life-experiences with maturity.

Staff and students were motivated and orientated in the Jesuit way of learning, leading to disciplined life meaningful journeys.

Students were encouraged not to give up, so their academic learning might strengthen them to stand firm when they walk alone in the future.

December, 2025

The Feast of St. Francis Xavier on December 3 was celebrated with joy and gratitude. Staff and students participated the feast joyfully in big numbers. After the College fest, students engaged actively in various activities with refreshed minds and hearts. The new zeal and enthusiasm sparked in their faces meaningfully.

Academic and research activities continued to bring quality to teaching and learning. Although the cold increased, it did not hinder the academic journey. Teachers were very regular and committed to their duty and engaged students in discovering the societal realities in their march towards their goals.

The advent of Christmas season also energised the staff and students with joy and togetherness for life-sharing. It was a happy ending to 2025. I felt grateful to God, to become the WORD for us and protected all staff, students, and their families.

Dear students, let us count the blessings that we have received in 2025. Be grateful to God and to your parents, because under their care you have grown joyfully and meaningfully. I thank each one of you for living an exemplary Xaverian life. You have been the star of the society. Do continue to shine and grow in your life.

Editors' Chant

January-March, 2025

Dear Readers,

A warm greeting of New year 2025!

"The Xaverian, the official monthly news bulletin of St. Xavier's College Simdega", is in your hand. The college was started on 1st August 2016. Since then, numerous attempts have been made to bring out a magazine that would mirror the academic and non-academic activities of the college. This year 2025, our imagination of a magazine in the form of official monthly college news bulletin has taken a concrete shape. The name of this monthly news bulletin is "The Xaverian, the official monthly news bulletin of St. Xavier's College Simdega". The first issue is Vol.1, Issue-1 January 2025.

The purpose of this college news bulletin is to keep the record of major activities of the college and publish it. The spirit of our institution thrives not just in the lecture halls, study, research, examinations, discussions, and sports; but in different clubs, societies, and organizations of students that makes our campus come alive. The pages of this bulletin are the testament to that spirit.

In February, 2025 the bulletin you have come across how the college was making its painstaking efforts to procure the best facilities for the overall development of the students and the college as a whole. The present issue covers some of the important works completed by the college. There is a report of infrastructure development in the college. The college has installed special railing for the differently abled students. The college has updated its computer lab with new software, a good library with four big tables and 30 chairs for the library and new library books, and many more. The college has 22 wall paintings, pertaining to different themes. They are mirrors of the activities that take place in our society. The college always celebrates the success of the students. There are some students who have passed UGC-NTA NET/JRF exams. They were recognized and appreciated by the college.

March 2025 was in your hand. This month was the month of preparation for exams. The teachers made great efforts to complete the syllabus of UG Semester IV and PG Semester III. The students also showed great enthusiasm to attend all the classes. The seriousness of the classes did not stop the college to arrange some extracurricular activities. On March 8th the college celebrated International Women's Day. Smt. Mariam Hemrom, DLSA Simdega came to the college as chief guest and motivated the students, especially girls refusing the difficulties and challenge. The students of the Dept. of English presented a Nukkad Nakkad highlighting the different socio-economic political challenges faced by women. The Nukkad Natak was well appreciated. Ranchi University started its exam from 25th of March for the Generic Elective papers. The exam was over on 29th March 2025. The university exam for UG semester IV and PG semester III will begin from 07th April to 7th May 2025.

There were many more achievements and activities that you would come across in the news bulletin. Please browse through it, read it, and enjoy it. All the very Best.

April and August, 2025

As the crimson blooms of palash announce spring in our state, April month arrived with its unique rhythm - a blend of exam tensions, the joyous beats of festivals, and the quiet determination that defines the students of SXCS. What made our journey distinct this month? The textbooks and screens occupied our days. The whispering Sal trees and our village stories reminded, "Education isn't confined to classrooms."

This April month also gifted us Sarhul, a festival that embodies our tribal legacy of living in harmony with nature. We learnt to bridge the gap between heritage and modern education. Celebrating days like Earth Day on 22nd April in our college brought us one step closer to being aware of the important role that nature plays in our lives. Our witness to the Alumni Meet revealed the success stories of alumni - in teaching or entrepreneurship and other fields which proved that a region's remoteness is no barrier to ambition. It was good to learn small but meaningful.

August, 2025 was filled with a bright blend of academic as well as cultural events, in pursuit of the institution's mission towards all-round development as well as community building. The Foundation Day was celebrated on August 1, paying homage to the college's great legacy standing the tests of time as well as reaffirming values that still guide the students and the teachers.

The orientation program was held for the fresher batch (2025-29) on August 11 to introduce about college life, the academic schedule, and the Xavierian spirit to mark the beginning of their next chapter. The enthusiastic celebration of Adiwasi Diwas on August 9 promoted rich tribal culture raising awareness among others about their rich cultural heritage.

Academic curiosity was maintained throughout the month with interactive speech and quiz contests, games, film show, talent hunt etc. through which students were compelled to learn beyond books and build essential competencies like teamwork, innovativeness, critical thinking etc. Such departmental initiatives showed the college's focus on providing an experiential and diverse education. It was a vibrant and memorable month.

Dear students, wear your roots with pride and let the hills remind you that growth takes time. With education, preserve your culture too.

May and September, 2025

Embracing Change: The Unstoppable Spirit of St. Xavier's College is a call for every Xaveria.

As the scorching sun of May gave way to unseasonal thunderstorms, nature reminded us once again of its unpredictable yet awe-inspiring character.

Much like these sudden showers, St. Xavier's College, Simdega, continues to evolve with an unstoppable energy, embracing challenges and celebrating milestones with unwavering determination. This month has been no exception, as our institution continues to strive forward with academic excellence, professional growth, and a renewed commitment to progress.

The month of May, although full of uncertainties, time and again proved the dedication and resilience of both the faculty and students as well. 11 faculty members completed their induction programme, showcasing that professional growth is at the heart of this institutional progress. Further, the successful completion of Semester 5 examinations marks another academic milestone for our students. The students were tired yet they were joyous to receive the summer holiday.

September, 2025 has been a testament to the dynamic spirit in examination halls and the boisterous energy of celebration. The Teachers' Day celebrations, organized with great enthusiasm by various departments, were a heart-warming affair.

The creative performances and genuine appreciation showcased the deep bond of respect and affection between students and faculty. It was a beautiful reminder that education is not merely a transaction of knowledge, but a relationship built on guidance and inspiration.

International River Day reminded us that our responsibilities as citizens are as important as our academic goals. From the quick-witted fun of Dumb Charades to the intellectually stimulating debates, weekend events fostered camaraderie, critical thinking, and creative expression. They were the essential threads that weave our academic community into a vibrant tapestry. Let us carry forward the resilience shown during exams, the gratitude expressed for our teachers, the responsibility towards our planet, and the joy of collaborative learning.

June and October, 2025

Dear Readers,

On June 21, 2025, our return from the summer holidays finds itself renewed and ready for the journey ahead. The break offered a welcome pause—a time for reflection, rest, and re-energizing before we step into the new academic term.

Coinciding with the latter half of the break, the monsoon made its timely arrival around June 15. The rains have breathed life into our campus, transforming it into a serenity to inspire students with academic pursuit and personal growth. It gives us joy to see students and faculty back in the college campus in full spirit. Meanwhile, admissions are now underway.

International Yoga Day was celebrated on June 21 with active participation, promoted physical well-being, mental clarity, and unity values which are deeply aligned with the ethos of St. Xavier's. It was a moment of collective mindfulness and strength, setting a positive tone for the months to come.

We carried forward the renewed energy into the semester ahead—with a commitment to learning, service, and excellence that defines our identity as Xavierians.

In October, 2025, as the festive fervour of Durga Puja gently fades, the college ushered in a vibrant blend of academic rigor and experiential learning. The post-celebration atmosphere resonated with renewed enthusiasm as the University resumed its End Semester Examinations for Undergraduate Semesters II and V. Students, rejuvenated from the festive break and returned to their academic pursuits.

Department of Political Science embarked on its educational tour from Oct. 15th to 22nd and Department of Geography from Oct. 22nd to 29th providing students with an invaluable opportunity to connect theoretical knowledge with ground realities. Exploring diversity students engaged deeply with the physical and human dimensions of the discipline, turning observation into insight and experience into education.

It was the month of transition from festivity to focus, from examination halls to educational excursions which captured the essence of university life, where learning is both structured and spontaneous, academic and adventurous. The month was remembered as a testament to the harmony of festivity, study, and exploration.

July and November, 2025

Dear Readers,

The month of July has been a vibrant blend of academic rigour, creative expression, and holistic development at our college. As we continue to foster a culture of learning and excellence, the academic calendar remained dynamic with the successful conduct of mid-semester examinations across various departments. These assessments not only evaluated student progress but also reinforced our collective commitment to scholarly growth.

July was equally marked by spirited extracurricular and awareness initiatives. The friendly competition fostered team spirit and camaraderie among students, reminding us of the importance of physical well-being alongside intellectual pursuits.

As we reflect on the month's achievements, we solemnly remembered St. Ignatius of Loyola, our patron saint, on his death anniversary on the 31st of July. His life and teachings continued to inspire us to strive for excellence with humility, compassion, and a deep sense of purpose.

With gratitude for a month full of learning, growth, and meaningful engagement, we looked forward to August with renewed vigour and hope.

November had been a month of celebration, creativity, and collective spirit on our campus. As the winter breeze set in, the college came alive with the vibrant energy of Xavier Utsav, our most awaited annual cultural fest. The grounds echoed with music, colours, and cheerful camaraderie as students showcased their talents across an exciting range of events. From energetic performances to thoughtful exhibitions, Xavier Utsav truly reflected the diverse abilities and unity of our student community.

Alongside the fest, the month also witnessed a rich array of departmental activities; insightful seminars, competitions, and interactive sessions that allowed students to explore academic interests beyond the classroom. These activities not only enhanced subject knowledge but also encouraged teamwork, leadership, and creativity among the students. November, therefore, stands out as a reminder of what makes our college unique—a perfect blend of academics, culture, and community. May the enthusiasm of this month inspire us to continue learning, participating, and growing together. Let us carry forward the spirit of Xavier Utsav into the coming days with renewed motivation and pride.

and hard work. He urged to recognise the talents among them like sports, culture, nature, art etc.

and grow in them. He also encouraged to have skill-based learning and learn entrepreneurship skills and encouraged start-up ecosystem to make better journey in life.

Dr. Chaudhary talked about the importance of holistic growth and contextual learning. He said that St. Xavier's College, Simdega is the centre for learning which give the best opportunity to all the youth to become the Simdega Xaverian. He loved to see the individual care given to the staff and students. He said that students are the seed of a dreamed Society and hope of the state and nation.

The officials appreciated the college governance and management, Committed teachers and hardworking Students. Both of them wished us to be the change makers and to serve the nation with the highest dream of the Society and Nation.

HoDs Meeting

The meeting held on 9th January to discuss punctuality of the first hour of the class which could begin at 9:10am sharp, therefore, all should arrive campus by 9:00 a.m. The members agreed to relax the students to wear causal dress uniform on Wednesday and Saturday.

IQAC Meeting

On 10th January, the college speeded up the final work for the first cycle of NAAC Assessment. It was very encouraging to see the Attributes team working systematically.

The hard work of the professors in preparation of SSR seemed incredible. The principal thanked Dr. Jayant Kr. Kashyap, IQAC Coordinator and congratulated all the professors for their commitment and generosity towards the NAAC Process.

Ranchi Jesuit Treasurers' Workshop

Ranchi Jesuits' Treasurers' Workshop on "Budgetary System and Budget Preparation 2025-26" was held on 11th January. There were 44 Jesuits attending for the workshop. Dr. Fr. Roshan Baa, SJ presented the theological and budgetary process system based on, "Spirituality of budget Preparation based on Our Poverty and for Financial Administration." Rev. Fr. Bruno, SJ shared the practical dimensions and challenges faced in financial procedures. It was very informative and meaningful.

Big Thanks

During the general assembly on 13th January, the principal thanked the staff and students for mutual cooperation made in the year 2024 to create a better academic Year. The students received the salutation for their discipline, hard work, sincerity, honesty, focussed and committed life that made college life joyful and meaningful. Hindi and English language as modes of instruction and communication were emphasised in the campus.

Students were oriented to create a better understanding with one another and respect for the teachers. Discipline was said to be the hallmark of student's life. I would like to thank all the stakeholders for their collective effort that made the progress and achievement of the college possible. The staff and students deserve a big round of applause and hearty congratulations for the fruitful year 2024-25.

I thank the proud parents who trusted our college's endeavour. I also thank all the principals of intermediate colleges and schools from where students join us to be Simdega Xaverians. Students from your schools are well balanced in their academic growth. You have taught them discipline, respect, values, and a vision for the future.

Respected dignitaries, we feel confidence in our academic journey. Our students move ahead in great pace. They believe in the present. They are savvy in technology. They dream high. Though they may fall, they rise again quickly. They respect their parents, teachers, friends, and most importantly, themselves. The Xaverian family begins the day with a prayerful assembly. We walk with the almighty God to be guided in our journey.

Dear Xaverians, we are growing. We believe in ourselves, that we can. We have invested our time, energy, personnel and finance to be a true Xaverian, to bring change in our lives and in the Society. I thank all the stakeholders for their generous contribution and positive words for St. Xavier's College, Simdega. Let us learn from the past and hold on the values that we have learnt as Xaverians. Thank you very much for listening to me. May God bless you all. Thank you.

CHEERS!

Dear Xaverians,

Thank you very much. I appreciate your academic and cocurricular endeavors. Your presence and participation in various activities have added significance to our teaching and learning. I look forward to a fruitful and engaging events in 2026.

Dear Students, you are very special. Remember, your college life is a transition year. You have left your childhood behind and moved towards the adulthood. You have started to be alone to fight for your life, career and future. St. Xavier's College, Simdega has given you an opportunity to discover and learn, platform to grow and bloom.

You are responsible to be joyful in your life which is not so easy. You should know that Joyfulness is in present not in future. If you are not happy today, there is no guarantee that you will be happy tomorrow. Therefore, Year 2026 is to make you to be today. Participate, enjoy yourself, learn and act meaningfully, do your best and witness the growth within yourself. Never forget to respect your parents, teachers, friends and yourself.

Dear Xaverian, let 2026 be a time of Research and Innovation, Fun and Creativity. All the best. Love you all. May God Bless you all!
